*****

We are pleased to be able to offer a first catalogue via our own website. It will be some time before the website also has more content, but we are working on it.

In this catalogue you will find a selection of new acquisitions in our specialist areas as well as the first part of a Buddhism library that we have recently been able to acquire. Most of these books are in exceptionally good condition. At the beginning of the catalogue you will find books from a time when travel to Tibet was only possible with an official invitation. Even if the descriptions and photos often use stereotypes, they offer an interesting insight into this otherwise little documented time.

*****

All defects of the books are noted. Title is reserved until full payment is received. Shipping will be charged in addition to the mentioned price. We can send photos of the books in which you are interested

Gelder, Stuart & Roma: Visum für Tibet. Eine Reise in das geheimnisvollste Land der Erde, Düsseldorf/Wien, Econ Verlag, 1965.

Original-Leinen mit Schutzumschlag, 344 Seiten, 5 Farb- und 31 s/w-Abbildungen auf Tafeln, Vorsatzkarte, Schutzumschlag mit kleinen Einrissen (ohne Verlust), sehr guter Zustand. Eines der wenigen Bücher über Tibet kurz vor der Kulturrevolution. Das Ehepaar reiste 1962 nach Tibet, angeblich mit dem ersten Visum, den die kommunistische chinesische Regierung für westliche Besucher ausstellte (was nicht ganz stimmt, z. B. war Winnington 1955 und 1959 dort). Viele lächelnde Tibeter, aber auch Fotos von Lhasa, das noch intakt ist, u.a. der Eingangs-Chorten. Hugh Richardson veröffentlichte eine (für ihn ungewöhnlich) recht emotionale Rezension im Journal of the Royal Central Asian Society, Bd. 52, 1965, S. 181/182.

Gelder, Stuart & Roma: The Timely Rain. Travels in New Tibet. Foreword by Edgar Snow, London, Hutchinson, 1964.

Bestell Nr.: 18907

10,00 €

Original cloth with dust jacket, 248 pages, 27 colour and 40 b/w illustrations on plates, endpaper map, very good condition. One of the not too many books about Tibet shortly before the cultural revolution. The couple travelled to Tibet in 1962, allegedly on the first passport issued by the Communist Chinese Government to Western visitors (which was not quite true, e.g. Winnington was there in 1955 and in 1959). Many smiling Tibetans, but also photos of Lhasa still intact, i.a. the entrance chorten. Hugh Richardson published quite an emotional review in the Journal of the Royal Central Asian Society, vol. 52, 1965, pp. 181/182.

Han, Suyin: Chinas Sonne über Lhasa. Das neue Tibet unter Pekings Herrschaft, Bern/München, Scherz, 1978.

Colour photos from the Jokhang before the Cultural Revolution

Jisl, L., Vladimír Sís und Josef Vanis: Tibetische Kunst (mit Schutzumschlag !), Prag, Artia, 1958.

Bestell Nr.: 19667

11,00 €

Goldekoriertes Originalleinen mit Schutzumschlag, 44 Seiten sowie 111 Abbildungen auf Tafeln, davon etliche in Farbe, sehr gut erhalten. Sehr interessanter Bildband mit wichtigen Photos zu Lhasa, Ost- und Zentral-Tibet vor der Kulturrevolution. Sís und Vanis konnten Lhasa 1954 besuchen. So ist hier detailliertes Photo des Gesichts des Jobo enthalten, welche die komplett andere Oberflächenstruktur der Figur zeigt, als diese heute ist, sowie ein Photo der weitgehend zerstörten Statue des Avalokiteshvara, beide im Jokhang. Photos auch von weiteren Statuen auch im Potala. Die meisten wurden zerstört und seither wiederhergestellt und als Original angepriesen. Ein lohnender Band.

Jisl, Lumir, Vladimír Sís and Josef Vanis: Tibetan Art, Prag, Artia, n.d. [ca. 1958].

Bestell Nr.: 22115

23,00 €

Original gilt decorated cloth binding, 39 pages plus 111 illustrations on plates, folding plate (slightly misfolded), quite a few in colour, very good condition. Armorial bookplate inside front cover. Very interesting photo book, an important documentation of the condition of some monasteries in Eastern Tibet and Lhasa before the destruction work of the Cultural Revolution. Sis and Vanis visited Lhasa in 1954. There is e.g. a detailed photo of the face of the famous Jobo in the Jokhang, which shows a completely different surface structure than the statue today. Also a photo of the famous Avalokiteshvara, which was largely destroyed and only part of the heads are now in exile with the Dalai Lama.

Vanis, Josef, Vladimír Sís and Josef Kolmas: Recalling Tibet, Oslo / Prague, The Institute for Comparative Research in Human Culture/Prah Press, 1997.

Bestell Nr.: 30538

130,00 €

Original cloth with dust jacket, 160 pages, numerous b/w and colour photos, folding map, very good condition. With a foreword by Per Kvaerne, who initiated this publication. Although the book by the authors "On the Road through Tibet" is well known, many of their photos from their 1954 journey through Eastern Tibet to Lhasa remained unpublished. Several of them are published here for the first time. A sumptuous volume with photos of excellent quality, including marvellous colour photos of old Tibet. Quite hard to find.

43,00 €

Original cloth binding with dust jacket, xxxiii, 478 pages, 357 illustrations, very good condition. Fundamental study of Buddhist Iconography, also fundamental for the identification of deities as depicted in the art of Tibet. The illustrations are based on Gandhara and Pala sculpture, but mainly from the Tibetan tradition, i.a. the Lamaist pantheon collected in the imperial palace at Beijing. The first edition of this book was published already in 1924 but was then heavily revised by the author after he published editions of the Sadhanamala and Nispannayogavali and this second revised edition was published in 1958. For this last edition in 1968 the author made again some revisions to the text. All these original editions are very hard to find.

Excellent book, the statues have been recently newly photographed and published in a very expensive Chinese publication, however, in the meantime several have been lost. Very rare fist edition.

With an essay by Robert Linrothe, Mapping the Iconographic Programme of the Sumtsek. Large Folio format - very heavy book. The largest and most beautiful book on this highly important, early temple building in Ladakh, which shows early art influenced heavily by the art of Kashmir. Important also for the early art of West Tibet. As visitors are no longer allowed to take photographs inside the Sumtsek (or any of the other temples in the Chokhor), this is important also for the lucky ones, who had a chance to see the original paintings. Hoernle, A. F. Rudolf: The Bower Manuscript: Facsimile Leaves, Nagari Transcript, Romanised Transliteration and English Translation with Notes, Calcutta, Superintendent Government Printing, 1893 - 1912.

Bestell Nr.: 31265

1.500,00 €

Little later cloth binding with armorial gilt device on front cover, xcvi, 29 illustrations in the introduction (5 of which are mounted photo illustrations), sketch map, folding map and 3 plates (one double page) in the introduction, 401 pages, several errata slips glued in in the Sanskrit Index, pp. 221 to 240 are bound into the book in original state and in a revised version, 54 colour plates with facsimiles of the original manuscript pages each accompanied with a page in which the original text is printed in Sanskrit, one plate with heavy foxing, all others in fresh condition, order of the Sanskrit alphabet noted in pencil at the beginning of the Sanskrit Index, three or four colour markings in the introduction, small remains of old library label on spine, sumtous gilt device of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain on the front cover, also a stamp by them on the front endpaper and verso the title, no other library markings, very good condition. The Bower manuscript, a very early medical text, was the starting point for the race of European nations to send archaeological expeditions to Central Asia. It is a bundle of manuscripts found near Kucha and purchased by Hamilton Bower there in 1890. It immediately created huge interest and Hoernle was keen to publish an edition. Between 1893 and 1897 Hoernle published the text with an annotated English translation and illustrated facsimile plates, followed by the Sanskrit Index in 1908, and a revised translation of the medical portions (I, II, and III) in 1909. The Introduction appeared in 1912 - all parts are present here, with all illustrations. It was published as Volume XXII of the New Imperial series of the Archeological Survey of India. It is currently assumed that the manuscript was written about 500 - 550 CE, making it the oldest Indian book of its time. The first three texts are on medicine, two are on divination and last two on magical incantations. Completely uncut (the only other copy of this book we handled was slightly cut to adapt the printed text to the size of the colour plates), very large and very heavy book. Given the very long period during which the book was published in smaller portions, complete copies are extremely rare to be found.

1882 edition!

Jäschke, Heinrich August: A Tibetan-English Dictionary with Special Reference to the Prevailing Dialects, London, Secretary of State for India in Council, 1882.

Bestell Nr.: 31190

790,00 €

Newer cloth binding with title in gilt on spine, xxii, 671 pages, faint remains of a library label on spine, library stamps/release stamp on title page (Library of Congress), title page repaired at outer edge with slight loss (wide outside printed area), the first 30 pages slightly brittle with small tears (without loss, outside printed area), slightly bumped at lower corner, in all a still very good copy of a rare book. The book was printed at Berlin by Unger Brothers, who printed also various books of the bible translated into Tibetan for the British Bible Society. This edition was preceded by the small 1866 edition, handwritten and printed in Kyelang. Based on this Jäschke then expanded the dictionary greatly and published the Tibetan German "Handwörterbuch" in 1871, also in lithographed form, reproducing his handwritten manuscript. Jäschke's dictionary "brought modern Tibetan lexicography to a new level" (Viehbeck, Coming to Terms with Tibet: Scholarly Networks and the Production of the First "Modern" Tibetan Dictionaries, Revue d'Etudes Tibétaines, 2016, p. 476). This copy printed in 1882. Apparently, very few copies were printed at a time, the first printing dates to 1881, there are also printings with later dates. But all 1880ies printings are rare in the trade. We find no copy of this printing in any public library.

Keilhauer, Anneliese und Peter: Ladakh und Zanskar. Lamaistische Klosterkultur im Land zwischen Indien und Tibet, Köln, DuMont, 1982 (2. Auflage). 9783770111817

Bestell Nr.: 30989

3,00 €

Paperback, 414 Seiten, 52 farbige und 105 s/w Abbildungen, 207 Karten und Zeichnungen im Text, , ansonsten sehr gut erhalten. Nach wie vor deim Einleitungsteil auf einigen Seiten saubere Bleistiftunterstreichungen, leicht gebrauchsspurig, noch gut erhalten. Der einzige Kunstreiseführer zu der Region - nach wie vor. Die großen und bekannten Klöster, wie Hemis, Alchi und Lamayuru, sind ebenso berücksichtigt, wie eher abgelegene, z.B. Mangyu. Wird durch aktuellere Reiseführer, wie wir aus eigener Erfahrung berichten können, nach wie vor nicht ersetzt, dort wird zwar aus diesem Buch teil recht wörtlich abgeschrieben, dafür aber auch gekürzt. Die Mühe der Aktualisierung wird in den neueren Reiseführern - jedenfalls was die Beschreibung der Kunstgegenstände anbelangt - gleichfalls gescheut.

Kessler, Peter: Current Works to an Ethnohistorical Atlas of Tibet ( EAT). 47.1 The Historical Kingdom of Muli, Rikon, Tibet Institut, 1986.

Bestell Nr.: 31298

75,00 €

Original softcover binding, 60 pages, 4 sheets loosely enclosed, complete as published, including the coloured map of Muli, last leaves loose (because of the inadequate binding quality - the last 4 pages (including 2 double pages were intended to be loose)), but all complete, otherwise in good condition. Well-researched work, but based only on secondary literature. In this respect no longer up to date, but on the other hand there is no better overview. The exiled King of Mili (also Muli in the literature) was so fond of the work that he financed this English version; with a special forward to the English edition. This is the only part of the planned atlas to appear in English, in German two additional parts were published, but not more. Hard to find. From the library of Tibetologist Wim van Spengen with his pencilled ownership inscription on the front free endpaper.

Khedrup, Tashi and Hugh E. Richardson: Adventures of a Tibetan Fighting Monk, Bangkok, Orchid Press, 1998. 9789748299174

Bestell Nr.: 31302

16,00 €

Original softcover binding, vi, 135 pages, very good condition. Unusual account of life in Tibet before 1959 from the perspective of a Tibetan who earned his place in the monastery not because of his erudition, but because of his abilities in sports - Hugh Richardson, the last British representative in Lhasa - compiled this book on life in old Tibet. An underestimated book. From the library of Tibetologist Wim van Spengen with his pencilled ownership inscription on the front free endpaper.

King was forced to retire from consular service because of his marriage. The couple returned to England, where Rinchen Lhamo died in 1929, aged only 28 of tuberculosis (compare Tim Chamberlain, Edge of Empires, British Museum Magazine, Spring/Summer 2010). This text was written as introduction to Rinchen Lhamo's "We Tibetans".

Bestell Nr.: 31295

70,00 €

Original cloth with dust jacket, dust jacket a bit rubbed and with marginal tears, very good condition. Very lively book on one of Kingdon-Wards last expeditions to Assam, together with his newly wedded second wife, where they were hit by one of the worst earthquakes ever nearly the epicenter – one of the omens for the Tibetans of the coming Chinese invasion. The book reveals much of interest, not least Kingdon-Ward's bravery as he fought daily against his great fear of heights, all the more astonishing as he had to cross regularly quite hair raising, unstable bridges and climb along mountainsides to find his plants. From the library of Tibetologist Wim van Spengen with his pencilled ownership inscription on the front free endpaper.

Littledale, St. George R.: A Journey across Tibet, from North to South and West to Ladak, London, 1896 (photocopy).

Bestell Nr.: 30933

15,00 €

Stapled photocopy from: The Geographical Journal, May 1896, pp. 453 - 482, 5 illustrations and 3 large folding maps (also in large photocopies glued together to reach original size). Littledale made several remarkable journeys with his wife and dog. This journey was also accompanied by his nephew. Littledale and his wife were very well off, Littledale was one of the great hunters of his generation. At middle age they decided to travel in unexplored regions. Destination of this journey was Lhasa, which they almost reached, before being stopped. Littledale took a pragmatic view how to reach his goal: "My scheme was to strain every nerve to reach Tibet, and, if possible, Lhasa, with plenty of food and animals to carry it. Most of the other expeditions had failed owing to their arriving in a more or less destitute condition, and then, of course, the Tibetans could dictate their own terms. We also relied upon bribery, and went well prepared with the sinews of war for wholesale corruption." The Littledales never published a book, so they are mostly forgotten today, which is unjustified. They achieved more, than most of the more famous "explorers". Very difficult to find in the original.

Also information of how to obtain travel permits for such journey - the author has been British Trade Agent for many years at Yatung, serving also at Gyantse, which is prominently mentioned in the book. So the right person to go to - also in regard of Tibetan antiques, as there were already at that time, as the author points out, many counterfitted pieces made to deceive the tourist. Lacking the originally loosely inserted sketch map. From the library of Tibetologist Wim van Spengen with his pencilled ownership inscription on the front free endpaper.

Original cloth binding with dust jacket, 262 pages, 70 colour and 130 b/w illustrations, very good condition. Selection from a fabulous collection, at that time still anonymous. The collector, Christian Humann, became known only after his untimely death in 1981, at the age of 57. The collection of over a 1000 objects was put together in only 20 years. The bulk of it was purchased by Robert Ellsworth, who resold part of this huge collection in a series of auctions. This book accompanied an exhibition at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, where Pal was already curator, and then travelled to 4 other US Museums. Only sculptures were shown, amongst them 24 very fine ones from Nepal and Tibet, i.a. two exceptionally beautiful Nepalese statues of Bodhisattvas, both now in the Metropolitan Museum, and an incredible, very early and very sensuous statue of Uma. Heavy book, additional shipping is likely.

65,00 €

Original cloth binding, x, 293 pages, frontispiece with tissue guard, 32 plates, 1 folding map (out of 2 - missing one), ex library copy with large number on spine, hinges of spine quite rubbed with smaller parts where the cloth is rubbed away (but spine still firm), inside a small college stamp on front endpaper and another (deleted) one on the title (and note "Reading Room"), otherwise no other library markings and inside quite good and fresh condition. Quite interesting, quite underestimated book - a journey to Central Tibet and Lhasa which went quite unrecognised, probably because the author, who went most of the way on foot, died shortly afterwards. As Younghusband mentions, the General set out little emotion in his diary, on which this book is based, however, the journeys show them. First edition - quite uncommon.

The Potala Murals – with an original print from the 3rd Dalai Lama's Seal !

Ping, Cuo Ci Dan (ed.): Budala gong bi hua yuan liu / A Mirror of the Murals in the Potala Palace, Beijing, Jiu zhou tu shu chu ban she, 2000. 7891145240

Bestell Nr.: 29086

390,00 €

Original cloth binding with dust jacket and illustrated slipcase, 303 pages, illustrated throughout, all edges gilt (!), as new condition. Full text in Chinese, Tibetan and English - very unusual for a monograph as this. Even so the Potala is the most famous building of Tibet, there are few books which document it properly. This is the only book we know of showing the mural paintings from the 16th century to the early 20th century, when the tomb chapel of the 13th Dalai Lama was built. Highly important therefore. There are few firmly dated paintings from the early 20th century and these provide an excellent basis to compare with Thangka paintings. Intriguingly, the publisher also included on a tipped in piece of handmade paper an original print from the large official seal of the 3rd Dalai Lama, Sonam Gyatso, who lived from 1543 to 1588. Decidedly uncommon, we find it in public libraries only at British Library, Universities of Cambridge and Zurich, State Libraries of Bavaria and Denmark, and at Berlin.

Bound photocopy in 2 volumes, x, 471 pages, 264 illustrations (several full plate illustrations), 13 maps and ground plans, very good condition. The original is variously described as being published either in 1918 or 1919 - actually both is true. The title page is being dated 1919, the original wrapper (also copied) 1918. At the height of the Russian revolution (compare e.g. Brun, Troublous Times for a description of Petersburg - and Turkestan - around this time), this book was finally published in comparatively fine quality with plenty of illustrations (several full plate), plans and maps. Several of the oldest available photos of Central Tibetan Monasteries are only published here, like photos of Samye and the 3 great monasteries around Lhasa, as well as of the major sites of Lhasa. Photocopy quality of the plates is however not good. A French and an English translation of this book have appeared, only the English edition reproduces some of the original illustrations, mostly however in smaller format than in the original. Also numerous portraits and paintings of dignitaries, monks and hierarchs as well as of objects of religious and daily life. Very scarce in the original. Heavy set, additional shipping is likely.

35,00 €

Original artificial leather binding, 239 pages, 33 colour and 177 black/white illustrations, very good condition. Important summary of the work of Tucci, giving an overview of the art of Tibet. Important historical photos from Tucci's travels in Tibet of buildings and art which is today often destroyed or completely unrecognisable, like the south Tibetan temple Samada or Champaling Chörten. Becoming hard to find.
